Percy Prosser of Jefferson City, are guests of the family of A. F. Tooley of this place.

Chas. Parker, the liveryman, has an "ad." in this issue of the COURIER.
Mr. Parker is pleasant, accommodating and reliable, is a good citizen and deserves a liberal share of your livery patronage.

Rev. E. R. Earle, an Episcopal divine of Carrollton, will preach at the Methodist church in Keytesville next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock a. m.
Go out to hear him.

Most, if not all, of the wheat in Chariton county was harvested the latter part of last and during the present week. The acreage is small, but the yield is large and the quality excellent.

Fred Michael, a 98-year-old Missouri boy of Trotter township, Carroll county, is attending to acres of corn this season. If they would only remain active there is no telling how old Missourians might live to be.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. E.
V. Seigle of Dalton has been dangerously ill with a complication of diseases, but rejoice to learn that she is now considerable better and we sincerely hope for her early recovery.

The COURIER has two correspondents, neither of whom knows how to spell vicinity. One spells it "vacinity," while the other spells it "vocinity." We hope they will paste this on the wall and refer to it as often as they find it necessary.

John Miller of Brookfield has opened a harness shop at Rothville.

Miss Bessie Hodge, one of Brunswick's accomplished young ladies, graduated in the literary course of Howard Payne college at Fayette last week.

Mrs. J. A. Collet of 3 1-2 miles northeast of town was quite sick last week, threatened with peritonitis. It affords us much pleasure to announce that she is now convalescent. She was moved into town Wednesday to her mother's, Blair Miller.

The Epworth league of the German Methodist church, near Dalton, gave an ice-cream supper last Thursday evening, which was well attended and greatly enjoyed. The total receipts amounted to $31, $16.75 of which was made clear for the benefit of the league.

Clarence Gaston, an ambitious son of Postmaster W. C. Gaston of Keytesville, graduated with high honors from Bryan & Stratton's Commercial college at Boston last week. Clarence will seek employment in the East, and we hope he may be able to secure a lucrative situation.

Rudolph Wessner, Dalton's genial postmaster, expects to start about July 1 for Germany to visit his parents and other friends and relatives.
He will also take in the Paris exposition before his return. During his 60 or 90 days' absence the Dalton postoffice will be in charge of Benjamin Kuhler.

N. O. Tate, Keytesville's stirring real estate man, returned last Saturday night from Denver, Colo., whither he had been to recuperate his health. He is much improved, and will resume operations here next week. He has been of incalculable benefit to Keytesville, and we are glad to know that he has concluded to remain in our midst. He will devote his entire attention to the real estate business, and we hope he will meet with that abundant success his indefatigable energy merits.

C. M. Cupp of near Westville, who has been attending the review school at Keytesville, left the latter part of last week to enter the Chillicothe Normal school.

Banker Wm. E. Hill shipped a car load of Shetland ponies from Keytesville to St. Louis Wednesday. His father-in-law, Capt. R. M. Scott, accompanied them to market.

L. O. White, who is scoring a big success as a commercial tourist for C.
F. Blanke & Co., a wholesale tea, coffee and spice house of St. Louis, spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Louisa White, and other Keytesville relatives.

Ben Binford, a popular and successful traveling salesman for the Ely-Walker Dry Goods Co. of St. Louis, spent Saturday and Sunday in Keytesville with his parents, Mr. and Mrs.
T. H. Binford.

T. R. Johnson returned Friday afternoon from Fayette where he had been attending school at Central college.
This was Tom's second year at Central and he intends to take the full course at that splendid educational institution. He will spend his vacation with his sisters, Mrs. Frank Dejarnette of near Dalton and Mrs. John Yarbrough of Chillicothe.

We have heard of white black birds, but never saw one. A. S. Taylor of 2 1-2 miles north of town deposited on our editorial desk yesterday morning, not a white black bird, but cluster of white blackberries, which he raised on his farm this season they are fine, both in size and
